

What Participants Are Saying:

The mix of journal entries, quizzes, and videos [in online class] made the information 'sink in' better than just quizzes alone would have.

I learned to listen, be patient, to communicate, keep lines of communication open, and to talk positively about my spouse.

I have learned from this course to not use the children as objects in our conflicts, or try to "get one over" on the other co-parent. This course has made me realize that even the little things that I say or the things that I pay little attention to can have a major impact on my children.

Co-parenting for Successful Kids

“Co-parenting for Successful Kids” is a research-based education class designed to help separating and divorcing parents cope with divorce and custody.

The goal of this class is to develop respectful, responsive, and responsible co-parents. Parents learn how to answer their children’s questions about the separation/divorce, and how to keep their children safe and out of the parents’ conflict. “Co-parenting for Successful Kids” strengthens communication skills that can improve interactions between children and parents.

This class is offered:

- online and available anytime
- in English or Spanish
- in person by appointment
- at several locations in Nebraska

In person classes may be scheduled by appointment at several locations across Nebraska. Instruction will include educational presentations, videos and booklets. A Spanish interpreter is available upon request.

Cost is $50. Reduced fees are available for income-eligible participants – locate application at child.unl.edu/coparenting or call to request.
