

OVERVIEW

Nebraska Extension's "Co-Parenting for Successful Kids" is a research-based education class designed to help separating and divorcing parents cope with divorce and custody.

The class is offered on-site at four locations in Nebraska, and online.

Parents learn to answer the children's questions and keep their children safe and out of their conflict. "Co-Parenting for Successful Kids" strengthens communication skills that can improve interactions with children and the other parent. The goal of the class is to develop respectful, responsive and responsible co-parenting.

ONLINE CLASSES

To register:

go.unl.edu/coparenting
go.unl.edu/coparenting-spanish

The online class includes video instruction, interactive pages and chapter reviews.

Participants need:

- internet access
- register with a major credit card
- an email address

Cost is $50. Reduced fees are available for income-eligible participants — application at child.unl.edu/divorce or call to request.

Parents may take the class in one approximately three hour setting or break it up into segments that meet individual scheduling need. They have 30 days to complete the course.

Online participants may also participate in an on-site class at no additional charge if additional instruction is needed.

After completing the chapter checks and evaluations, the official Nebraska Certificate of Completion of Parenting Education Course will be made available for you to download and print within five working days.

Online class includes:

- Responses to your questions related to your unique situation via email from Extension staff. Many say this is a unique and valuable part of this class.
- Video instruction with strategies for developing child-centered co-parenting plan and how mediation works in Nebraska.
- Instructions of how to minimize stress for children by keeping them out of the middle of the adult conflict.
- Downloadable practical resources.

ON-SITE CLASSES —2017

2017 On-Site Class Registration

child.unl.edu/divorce

On-site (in person) classes are available at four locations across Nebraska. Classes include educational presentation, videos and handouts. Parents gain positive educational experiences by being in a classroom with others in similar transitions. Parents say they appreciate learning strategies which have worked for their classmates.

Cost is $50. Reduced fees are available for income-eligible participants — application at child.unl.edu/divorce or call to request.

It is recommended parents of the same child/children take different classes.

Spanish interpreters are available upon advance request in Columbus, Grand Island and Norfolk.

If class is cancelled due to low enrollment, participants will be notified and may participate online or at a different location.

“ Keeping the child out of the middle of the conflict and working with the other parent to come up with a parenting plan that works for the both of us. ”

“ I learned to listen, be patient, to communicate, keep lines of communication open, and to talk positively about my spouse. ”

What participants are saying:

“ The mix of journal entries, quizzes, and videos [in online class] made the information ‘sink in’ better than just quizzes alone would have. ”

“ The information was very helpful in reaffirming that as parents we must work together to do what is in the best interest of our daughter to provide her with support, encouragement, and stability. ”
